Carlow Communities working together

community development

The Pride of Place project is designed to encourage and celebrate that is good in our community.

It offers people the opportunity to engage in community, environmental and heritage projects which will build for the future of the areas in which the community lives and works.

The Pride of Place competition is a people centered project and seeks to improve and bring together communities from all over Carlow.

The competition is promoted by the Carlow Local Authorities and is a development from the Carlow's Floral Pride competition which began in 1998.

The Aims of the competition are to promote best practice, innovation and leadership in communities all over Carlow. The hope is that each community will develop an affinity with its own area and develop care and growth for its people and environs.

Carlow's Pride of Place

Carlow Local Authorities together with Ellard Browne developed the "Pride of Place" initiative. The purpose of the PR campaign was to encourage communities in County Carlow to work together to build a better environment for all those living in the county.

A competition was devised and over 56 separate communities entered the event.

Subsequently the competition has been adopted nationally and is run by Co-operation Ireland.

Ellard Browne has event managed the annual launch and awards ceremonies and also has created the print publicity and DVD recordings of the various community activities.

The competition is one of the highlights of the Carlow year.

THE EFFORTS OF CARLOW LOCAL AUTHORITIES HAVE BEEN RECOGNISED AS THEY WERE AWARDED THE COUNTY COUNCIL AWARD FOR PRIDE OF PLACE 2005
